Decovita Seramik combines its designs inspired by nature with the quality of glazed porcelain tiles. Distributor of leading global ceramic companies since its establishment in 2004 Decovita has also contracted manufacturers to produce products under its brand name. Decovita combined this vast experience with eight thousand years of ceramic culture in Anatolia and has been manufacturing products in its own facilities equipped with state of the art technologies since 2016.

Decovita Seramik intends to add value to the art of ceramic and by giving significant emphasis on R&D, the company already has over 2,500 designs and hundreds of product lines although it started production only two years ago. With its unique and original inspirations from all over the world ranging from trees in Amazon Forests to sands in the Sahara Desert Decovita Seramik reflects designs of natural stones, glitter of metal elements and texture of wood on ceramic tiles. Decovita has managed to produce the blackest and whitest ceramic tile of the world and offers its wide range of products to consumers in more than 30 countries in Europe, Africa and Middle East as well as in Turkey and continues to increase the number of export countries.
